

We discussed making the site more responsive, since it didn't necessarily work well at smaller sizes. We also talked about finishing/fixing the links for some of the different pages within the site (ex: photography). Finally, We talked about making the images smaller so they would fit on the page.